Why use Self-Fix Frame Hardware?

Self-Fix frame hardware offers quality, economy and efficiency for volume frame makers.

Self-fix saw-tooth hangers fixed to the back board usually sit below the rim of the frame. This makes for easy packing. The hanging hook or pin is hidden. See p.4.

Self-fix hangers are quick to fit with POZZI equipment. They sit flat inside the back of the frame, making packing easy. Easy to bend out to hang on picture hook or pin. Also make it easy to align groups of pictures. See p.4.

A sawtooth hanger on the top edge of a frame stands proud, making packing difficult. Fixing with screws or nails is slow and can be unsafe. The picture hook is visible when the frame is hung.

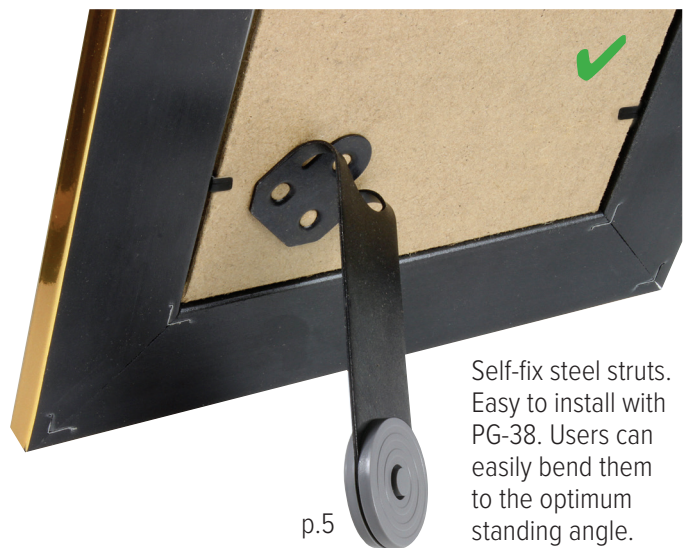

Picture wire or cord need fixings at each end. Then it can take several minutes to cut to length, loop and twist or tie in place. Later it can come loose or break.
